

| Art                        |   | Year 3/4       |  |
|----------------------------|---|----------------|--|
| Focus: Drawing             |   |                |  |
| Age related art vocabulary |   |                |  |
| Horizontal                 | Something is parallel to the plane of the horizon   | Shading        | The darkening or colouring with parallel lines or a block of colour.           |
| Vertical                   | Something is at a right angle to a horizontal plane where the top is directly above the bottom.               | Cross-hatching | Shade an area with intersecting sets of parallel lines.                        |
| Intersect                  | Two or more things pass or lie across each other.   | Grade          | The numbers and letters that show the hardness or softness of the pencil lead. |
| Portrait                   | A painting, drawing, photograph, or engraving of a person, especially one of the face, or head and shoulders. | Contemporary   | Belonging to or occurring in the present.                                      |

Key Knowledge

- Shading can be used to add tone to a portrait especially around the eyes, nose and hair.
- When cross-hatching if the lines are further closer together it will create a darker effect.
- A variety of directions of lines can be used when cross-hatching.
- Portraits are a type of art that shows a persons face or head and shoulders.
- Pencil grades can be used to help identify the appropriate pencil when sketching.
- If a pencil is marked with a letter H it has a hard lead. The higher the number on a H pencil the harder the lead. A Hard lead pencil will draw alight mark. H pencils are ideal for precision drawing
- If a pencil is marked with a b this shows a softer lead. The higher the number with the b mark the softer and darker the pencil. The softer pencils are easy to smudge and blend and are ideal for a wide range of shading techniques.
- Elizabeth Peyton is a contemporary American painter best known for her intimate, small-scale portraits of celebrities, friends, and historical figures