Key Knowledge
<ol style="list-style-type: none"> Every religion has their 'codes for living' or 'rules and principles' they value. Christians and Humanists have similar values although they are written differently The Ten Commandments are the 'rules' Christians follow, these are similar to the Humanists code for living Christians believe a human being is 'a good thing spoiled' – they say we are made in the image of God and so can do good things, but our bad choices have messed us up in some ways. Both Christians and Humanists believe in making and keeping Peace throughout the world
